Welcome, new colleagues!

Department of Clinical Sciences
• Marisa Ames, assistant professor
• Lisa Brownlee, research associate
• Karina Ferrer, accounting technician
• Wayne Jensen, associate department head
• Lynelle Lopez, research associate
• Beatrice Meyer-Parsons, instructor
• Catherine Mojahed, administrative assistant
• Valerie Moorman, assistant professor
• Rebecca Packer, associate professor
• Jennifer Rawlinson, assistant professor
• Lisa Riseman, research associate
• Matthew Roberts, research associate
• Desiree Shasa, research associate
• Katie Steneroden, instructor
Welcome, new colleagues!

Department of Biomedical Sciences
- Lindsay Bass, research associate
- Hannah Buzan, intern
- Jeremy Delcambre, coordinator
- Yumei Feng, assistant professor
- Nicole Marie Gutierrez, research associate
- Wayne Miller, research associate
- Kelsey Moreng, research associate
- Wencheng Li, research scientist
Welcome, new colleagues!

Department of Environmental & Radiological Health Sciences
- Mary Chapman, research associate
- Elvin Garcia, research scientist
- Sheryl Magzamen, assistant professor
- Daniel Miller-Lionberg, research associate
- Christopher Schmit, research associate

Department of Microbiology, Immunology & Pathology
- Catherine Bush, research associate
- Emilie Huc Claustre, research scientist
- Lisa Massoudi, research associate
- Rushika Perera, assistant professor
- Linnell Bentley Randall, research associate
- Susan Elise Reuth, administrative assistant
- Michelle Rushika, assistant professor
- Kelly Santangelo, assistant professor
- William Schountz, associate professor
- Ashli Rose Simone, research associate
Welcome, new colleagues!

Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratories
- Cindy Jo Arrieta, administrative assistant
- Thomas Davis, research associate
- Michelle Miller, administrative assistant
- Tracy Toberman, laboratory support
- Christiane Wright, administrative assistant

Veterinary Teaching Hospital
- Jessica Edwards, veterinary technician
- Kyle Jean, pharmacy technician
- Michelle Kuhne, animal care
- Shawna Lee, veterinary technician
- Jennifer Mantegani, veterinary technician
- Sharon M’Gonigle, materials handler
- Leah Oppelt, custodian
- Jane Ruff, laboratory support
- Paige Walker, administrative assistant
Welcome, new colleagues!

CVMBS Communications
• Ashley Manweiler, social media coordinator
• Krystle Schaneman, outreach coordinator

CVMBS Human Resources
• Kinda Carpenter, HR generalist
• Megan Elliott, HR coordinator

CVMBS Office of Advancement
• Sarah Ryan, advancement communications coordinator
• Lee Ann Strachan, administrative assistant
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. Greg Amberg, assistant professor of cardiovascular pharmacology, received the 2013 Zoetis Research Excellence Award for his research contributions toward future development of pharmacological tools used for management and prevention of muscle hypertension.

Dr. Lucas Argueso, professor in the Department of Environmental and Radiological Health Sciences, was named a 2013 Boettcher Webb-Waring Early Career Research Investigator for his promising research on a recently recognized type of genetic damage.
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. John Belisle, professor in the Department of Microbiology, Immunology, and Pathology, received the Scholarship Impact Award from the CSU Office of the Vice President for Research during Celebrate! Colorado State. It is the university’s highest award for research accomplishments; Belisle was honored for his work in infectious disease.

Dr. Brad Borlee, professor in the Department of Microbiology, Immunology, and Pathology, was named a 2013 Boettcher Webb-Waring Early Career Research Investigator to support his research into biofilm formation in some chronic, bacterial diseases.
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. Stacey Byers, assistant professor of clinical sciences, received the 2013 Pierson-Jensen Food Animal Faculty Award for her support and dedication to the CSU student chapters of the American Association of Bovine Practitioners and the American Association of Small Ruminant Practitioners.

Dr. Patricia Cole, veterinarian and associate professor in the Department of Microbiology, Immunology, and Pathology, was awarded the Colorado Veterinary Medical Association 2013 Outstanding Faculty Award for her selfless contributions and support for her students.
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. Dan Gustafson, professor in the Department of Clinical Sciences, was named to hold the Shipley University Chair in Comparative Oncology to support his groundbreaking work in pharmacology.

Thom Hadley, executive director of operations, received a Distinguished Administrative Professional Award during Celebrate! Colorado State for his critical role in the success of college research, teaching, and service. Hadley oversees CVMBS Business Analytics, Communications, Financial Services, Human Relations, Information Technology, Facilities and Infrastructure, and Strategic Planning. He also has a leading role in college international initiatives.
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. Eileen Hackett, associate professor in the Department of Clinical Sciences, accepted an honor for excellent service on behalf of the Veterinary Teaching Hospital’s Equine Medicine and Surgery team during Divine Equine, a benefit for the nonprofit Colorado Horse Rescue.

Dr. Peter Hellyer, professor in the Department of Clinical Sciences and a veterinary anesthesiologist, accepted responsibilities as new president of the Colorado Veterinary Medical Association during the annual convention in September.
Michael Hernandez, clinical instructor and veterinary technician, received the Colorado Veterinary Medical Association 2013 Technician of the Year Award for his commitment to animal welfare and outstanding leadership.

Dr. Timothy Holt, associate professor of livestock medicine and surgery, received the Colorado Veterinary Medical Association 2013 Distinguished Service Award for significant contributions to veterinary medicine as a proponent of alternative treatment modalities and as an internationally known expert in bovine high mountain disease.
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. Wayne McIlwraith, University Distinguished Professor and founding director of the Orthopaedic Research Center, received the 2013 Jacob Markowitz Award from the Academy of Surgical Research. He was honored for pioneering, developing, and refining arthroscopic surgery in the horse and for leading the development of large-animal models for the surgical repair of cartilage defects and evaluation of articular cartilage repair.
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. Gordon Niswender, University Distinguished Professor and international leader in the field of reproductive biology, was honored as 2013 Trainee Mentor by the Society for the Study of Reproduction. He is recognized as a trusted mentor for undergraduate, graduate, and post-doctoral trainees in reproductive biology.
Honors and awards for excellence

Lynda Reed, assistant to the director of the Flint Animal Cancer Center, is namesake of the newly established Lynda Reed Excellence in Service Award, to be given to any member of the College of Veterinary Medicine and Biomedical Sciences community who exemplifies the positive attitude, integrity, and desire to help others that Reed demonstrates daily.

Dr. Dan Regan, veterinary resident of anatomic pathology, was selected as the CSU recipient of the American Kennel Club Canine Health Foundation Clinician-Scientist Fellowship based on his work developing novel cancer therapeutics.
Dr. Mo Salman, professor in the Department of Clinical Sciences and founding director of the CSU Animal Population Health Institute, is serving with the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Agency for International Development as a Jefferson Science Fellow. During his yearlong appointment, Salman is providing science-based policy insights on infectious animal diseases.

Dr. Simon Turner, professor in the Department of Clinical Sciences and founder of the Surgical Research Laboratory, received the 2013 Founders’ Award for Career Achievement from the American College of Veterinary Surgeons. He was honored for outstanding contributions to the art and science of veterinary surgery as a pioneer in pre-clinical orthopaedics.
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. David Twedt, a professor in the Department of Clinical Sciences, received the 2013 Distinguished Service Award from the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine for outstanding volunteer service. He also received the International Award for Scientific Achievement from the World Small Animal Veterinary Association. Twedt is a small-animal veterinarian who has pioneered minimally invasive techniques for diagnosing liver and digestive disease; he is known as the father of veterinary endoscopy.
Honors and awards for excellence

Dr. Sue VandeWoude, associate dean for research, was named president of the American College of Laboratory Animal Medicine during the American Association for Laboratory Animal Sciences national meeting in Baltimore, Oct. 27-28.

Dr. Craig Webb, associate professor in the Department of Clinical Sciences and a gastroenterologist, won the 2013 Distinguished Veterinary Teaching Award sponsored by Zoetis Animal Health. Webb has a sustained record of excellence in teaching and is valued by his students as a teacher and mentor.
Honors and awards for excellence

The James L. Voss Veterinary Teaching Hospital names a Star Performer each month to recognize excellent clinical skills, professionalism, and patient care. Congratulations to these Star Performers!

- Jen Tucker, Small Animal Surgery technician – “Jen always comes to work with a pleasant, ‘can-do’ attitude that is focused on service and the best possible patient care.”
- Tracy Greenwalt, Dermatology technician – “She is everywhere, doing everything, and just making it work!”
- Jennifer Campbell, Client Services – “When I ask Jen to call a client, I know that they will be treated with respect and courtesy no matter how difficult the call may be.”
- Kelly Adducci, Orthopaedic Services – “She clearly sees the care of people and pets as more than her job – it is her mission.”
- Dr. Jenifer Gold, Equine Medicine – “Dr. Gold provides exceptional care and compassion toward the horses and clients she sees.”
Congratulations!

The James L. Voss Veterinary Teaching Hospital celebrated the opening of its new E. Myrl Halstead Jensen Center for Emergency Medicine and Critical Care with a donor reception in September.

Fun facts:
- Facility costs = $1.3 million
- Expands previous unit by 70%, to 3,550 square feet
- Will allow VTH to care for more than 4,000 sick and injured pets each year
- Kicked off with a lead contribution from the Flint Animal Cancer Center; this encouraged other donors
- Renovations continue to keep the VTH on the leading edge of clinical care and veterinary education.
Share Your Great News!
Contact the CVMBS Communications Team at CVMBS@colostate.edu!

Stay Connected with Us!
bit.ly/cvmbsfacebook  @CSUVetMedBioSci bit.ly/vthfacebook    @CSUVetHospital