HICAHS Community-Initiated Small Grants Program (2011-2016)

ATTENTION, Researchers: See separate RFA for HICAHS Pilot Program.

HICAHS Mission

The High Plains Intermountain Center for Agricultural Health and Safety (HICAHS) is one of ten national Agricultural Safety and Health Centers sponsored by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH). The HICAHS mission is to lead and coordinate regional and national efforts to improve the well-being and productivity of U.S. agriculture and forestry workers through increased health and safety awareness and evidence-based practices. This mission is addressed by undertaking applied research, providing prevention services such as hazard evaluation and control, and developing educational programs for those who work in agricultural production. The HICAHS primarily serves the High Plains and Rocky Mountain Region (Colorado, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, and Wyoming).

Community-Initiated Agriculture and Forestry Grant Program Objectives

Up to $10,000 in grant money is available to community-based organizations for the development of programs that promotes health and safety in agriculture and forestry. All projects that address issues related to the type of agricultural and forestry in Colorado, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, and Wyoming will be considered. Projects that align to the National Occupational Research Agenda (NORA) for Agricultural, Forestry, and Fishing will be given a higher priority (www.cdc.gov/niosh/nora/comment/agendas/AgForFish/).

The objectives of this grant program are to:

1. Augment regional agricultural health and safety education programs by providing community-initiated small grants to regional agricultural partners involved in the prevention of occupational injuries and illnesses.

2. Enhance and refine the translation and dissemination activities of organizations receiving agricultural community-initiated small grants through evaluation and impact assessment processes.

Translation is defined as the process of gathering knowledge and converting it into a form applicable to a target population in the context of the conditions in which its members live and interact.

Dissemination is the process of communicating and/or delivering translated knowledge findings to targeted populations in ways that are meaningful and relevant.
Application Review

Applications are scored according to the following criteria:

- Compatibility to the HICAHS mission and grant program objectives.
- Significance of the problem and demonstrated need for the project.
- Potential magnitude of community impact.

HICAHS will make funding decisions within 30 days or receiving the completed application.

Review Procedure & Dates

Applications are accepted and reviewed throughout the year. We anticipate that three to four awards will be made each fiscal year. The fiscal year for HICAHS begins on September 15 and ends on September 14 of the following year. Priority is given to proposals submitted within 4 months of the fiscal year (by January 15.) A maximum of $10,000 can be granted per grant application and these funds must be spent by the end of the fiscal year (September 14). Invoices for services rendered after September 14 will not be reimbursed by HICAHS.

Applicants are required to complete a project final report at the conclusion of the project or within 1 month of the end of the fiscal year (by October 15). See page 8 for the final report instructions.

Note that indirect (F&A) costs are not allowed.
